TRYING TO FIX BLAME

Residents of Boyertown Hold Meeting for Purpose of Getting Testimony.

MANY IN ATTENDANCE.

Not all Survivors Were Present—Committtee was Appointed to Get Full Evidence of Disaster

ANOTHER MEETING WILL BE CALLED.

Boyertown, May 24th.—Survivors of the Opera House fire of January 13 and relatives of the 171 persons who perished in the disaster today held a conference in the endeavor to fix the blame for the fire and bring the guilty ones to justice. This action is taken in view of the declination of District Attorney Schaeffer to act.

The survivors were called one at a time and questioned by a committee, consisting of former County Commissioner Frank H. Moyer, Harry Leinbach, Milton Kochel, Levi Lefever, John Hartman, William Hartman and Attorney Walter B. Freed.

The questions asked bore especially on the condition of the hall the experience of the survivors in escaping the burning building, the difficulties they had in reaching the fire escapes, the manner in which the coal oil footlights were fastened to the stage how they came to be upset and what caused it.

Not half of those present at the meeting were in the opera house at the time of the fire. They told the committee that while they could not add anything to the testimony not having been eye witnesses they were anxious to contribute to a fund to bring prosecutions.

Among those examined there were many who had suffered burns and in a number of cases parts of ears were gone.

It is the purpose of the committee to get the testimony this week of the survivors who were not at the meeting. Another conference will then be called and it is expected that by this time the committee will be ready to report as to the advisability of proceeding.

Marble makers have been ordered for all the unknown graves in Fairview cemetery.

George P. Miller.

George P. Miller one of Centre county's oldest citizens died at the home of his son George W. Miller at Axe Mann, on Tuesday after an illness of about six months.

The deceased was born in York county March 7th, 1815 making his age over ninety-three years. He came to Centre county many years ago and located in Nittany valley where he followed his occupation that of a carpenter. He has has probably erected more barns and other farm buildings than any other mechanic in the county. Mr. Miller has been making his home with his son for thirty years or more, part of the time residing at Linden Hall and later at Axe Mann. In religious faith he was a member of the Dunkard church.

The deceased is survived by three sons, George W., of Axe Mann; Levi, of Pittsburg; and Jacob in Kansas. The funeral was held Friday morning and interment was made in the Shiloh cemetery.

Bellefonte to Have New Industry.

The announcement that Bellefonte is to have a new industry in the form of a structural steel plant is gratifying to our people and especially to the laboring classes, although the new industry will be operated on a comparatively small scale at the start and will be enlarged as occasion demands.

The promoter of this new industry is H. S. Moore, of Bellefonte who has leased the old chain works and already has men at work getting it in shape to install the necessary machinery. The great demand for structural steel at the present time has led Mr. Moore to believe that an industry or this kind will pay in Bellefonte. It is earnestly hoped that this business venture may prove a success in everyway and that it may become one of Bellefonte's leading industries.

WIDOW MADE RICH QUICK

Oil & Gas Strike Change Poor Woman's Financial Standing

MADE A BARE LIVING

Owner of a Potter County Farm now Realizing Handsome Income From Holes in the Ground

ANE SHE IS NOW A "MERRY WIDOW"

Coudersport, May 26.—The opening of the Hebron oil and gas field in this county already has made Mrs. F. M. Terwilger, a widow, comfortably wealthy, with still more riches in prospect. Six months ago Mrs. Terwiliger was the owner of an indifferent farm that yielded her a living, and that was about all. Then one day drillers on a neighboring tract of land struck gas, with good signs of oil. The drillers declared that the soil and rock looked as though if a well were driven on the farm of Widow Terwiliger oil would be found. Mrs. Terwiliger leased her farm to the Bradford Oil and Gas company on the usual agreement that if oil or gas were found she would have a royalty on the product and, if the hole was a duster, the company would pay all the cost of drilling the well. But it was far from being a duster. Instead it was a gusher, and has been producing at a rate ever since that has yielded $10 a day to Mrs. Terwiliger as her share. One after another wells were driven on the widow's farm and one after another they came in producers, until the past week the fifth oil well was tapped, besides two gas wells of steady flow, and each good in royalty, for from $6 to $10 a day. The pressure of gas indicates probably an inexhaustible supply, while the oil wells are pronounced good for ten years at least. By that time Mrs. Terwiliger will be so wealthy that she need not bother about this world's goods.

Besides the activity in the Hebron field drillers also are hard at work in the Shinglehouse district, where 800 acres of land are under lease. Here, too, several farms have been chosen as places where test holes are to be driven.

Crops and Fruit Promising

Although the recent heavy rains have been a source of discomfort and some little damage to persons in this vicinity, the showers had a material effect on vegetation which is now thriving wonderfully. Corn and potatoes (where they are planted) are growing nicely, while tomato and cabbage plants that were set out after the cold weather early in the month look particularly hardy. There was some anxiety that fruit trees would prove unproductive on account of the continued cold weather when many trees were in blossom, but according to several growers and by observation of the conditions, it now appears that fruit will be plentiful unless the blight or some other unforseen occurence presents itself. Green fruit on the trees is now forming and it looks as though it was uninjured.

DIED SUDDENLY ON TRAIN.

Former Milesburg Resident Expires When Train is Nearing Lock Haven.

A very sudden death occurred early Saturday on train No. 54 which is due at Lock Haven at 1:09 in the morning when H. M. Shope, of Renovo, dropped dead as the train was passing the tower near the Normal. When the train reached the station the body was taken to the baggage room and the railroad physician Dr. R. B. Watson announced that the man had died from heart trouble. The remains were taken to the undertaking establishment of E. B. Waters and a brother of the deceased was notified at Howard. The brother, Edward Shope, ordered the remains shipped to Milesburg, the former home of the dead man.

Mr. Shope was employed in the oil house at Renovo and was on his way to visit his brother at Howard. He left Renovo in apparently good health and had never been known to complain of any illness. He was born at Milesburg, and was aged about 36 years. He was married at one time but his wife died a few years ago. Besides the brother at Howard, one sister, Mrs. Reuben Crust, of State College, and one half-brother, T. B. Lipton, of Buffalo, N. Y., are known to survive.

Funeral services were held at Milesburg Monday afternoon at two o'clock and interment was made in the Meyers cemetery.

Two More State Roads

The State Highway department was last week asking for bids for the construction of two more stretches of state road in Centre county. One is for the building at 7,560 feet of road from the present state road near Sandy Ridge to Blair's Siding, and 7,507 feet extending from the borough line of Philipsburg in a southerly direction in Rush township. The other is for the construction of 6,044 feet from the College township line through Harris township. The asking for bids indicates that the roads will be built this summer. Centre county is now getting quite a few state roads which will undoubtedly give the residents of the county better traveling facilities. The plans and specifications for these roads were received by the commissioners Monday morning.

MISSING MAN'S BODY FOUND

Bookkeeper Ended His Life When Shortage Was Discovered

WAS FOUND IN CREEK.

Francis Bloom, Bookkeeper of the Sunbury Trust Company Was Missing for Twenty Days.

DEAD MAN IDENTIFIED BY WATCH.

Sunbury, May 26th.—The body of Francis Bloom, the defaulting bookkeeper of the Sunbury Trust Company, who has been missing from his home for twenty days, was found last night in the Shamokin Creek, a stream of water and coal dirt which runs through this place not far distant from Bloom's residence.

On May 6th Bloom's actions in trying to change the figures of his books at the bank excited the suspicion of the bank examiner and when Bloom left the bank at the supper hour he stated that he would return to the bank in the early evening. Later he left his home and this was the last seen or heard of him until the discovery of his dead body in the creek.

When Bloom failed to report for work at the bank an examination showed that he had been misappropriating the funds of the bank and the shortage has now reached nearly $15,000. That Bloom was a defaulter was a great surprise in this place as he was a quiet man and always led a model Christian life, being sober and industrious. He was considered a man who's honesty and integrity were above reproach. What use he made of the bank's funds which he stole cannot be explained.

At the Coroner's inquest today the body was identified by means of a watch found in the pocket of the dead man and a verdict of suicide was rendered.

The Junior Contest

The Petriken Hall was crowded to its fullest capacity on Monday evening on the occasion of the annual Junior declamatory contest for the Reynolds prize of ten dollars to the one receiving first honors and five dollars to the one receiving second honors. This event is looked forward to by the juniors with great pleasure and this year it was entered into with more than ordinary interest. The program was made up of well chosen articles and of such as would be interesting to hear not only at a contest but upon any literary occasion. So well were they spoken that the judges had a hard time deciding as to whom the honors belonged. After deliberating on the merits of the several declamations the judges decided that the first prize should go to Mary K. Ray and the second to Benedict Beezer.

The program is as follows:

Music.

"The people of the United States" ..... Thomas R. Morgan

"Address at the Dedication of Grant's Monument. ..... John Orvis Keller

"Garnant Hall". ..... Verna B. Stevenson

"Beyond the Price of Countless Jewels" ..... Sara F. Earnhar

Music.

"The Peaceful Influence of Decoration Day" ..... Ralph L. Strable

"The Banner of St. George" ..... Alice H. Lowry

Music.

"The Value of Truth" ..... Benedict Beezer

"The Christ Child" ..... Marjorie McGinley

"The Night Watch" ..... Anna M. Dawson

"A Motorman's Story of a Child" ..... Mary K. Ray

The judges for awarding the prizes were Prof. F. L. Pattee, of State College, Prof. Ira N. McCloskey of Lock Haven and Prof. Whitefield of the Academy faculty.

The winners of the prizes received the congratulations of their many friends and Prof. Pattee in a few remarks spoke of the high merits of the declamations of all who entered into the contest and stated that they were better than any of all the contests he had heard previously. The school faculty is well pleased with the excellent manner in which the juniors acquitted themselves on this occasion and hope that they may be as successful in their senior year.

Fell Between Two Trans.

Henry E. Poorman, of Williamsport, a brakeman of the Beech Creek passenger train, had an experience at Morrisdale Mines Thursday evening that he will not soon forget. Poorman was on the west bound train which was on a siding at Morrisdale Mines to allow the east bound train to pass. He was in the baggage car and in an endeavor to hand a paper to a man on the down train as it rushed by he lost his balance and fell between the two trains, his own train starting about the same time.

The conductor on the up train saw Poorman plunge from the car and quickly gave the signal to stop. He expected to find the man ground to pieces, but by the time the train was stopping Poorman covered with mud and unhurt, swung upon the train. He had fallen straight down and kept free from the rails over which the down train was passing.

Riots at Chester

Incident to the withdrawal of the state constabulary from Chester conditions in connection with the trolley strike have assumed a more serious aspect. Mob violence was in force on Monday and the strike breakers in charge of the cars fared badly at the hands of the strike sympathizers. During the trouble late Monday night a small boy was shot and one trolley car burned. Other disturbances followed during the night. Many of the special police who were sworn in to help to preserve order have resigned and others are refusing to ride on the cars manned by strike breakers for the purpose of protecting them.

State Man Will go to China

Professor W. T. Tombave of the Pennsylvania State College, has been engaged by the Chinese government, through its minister to this country, Wu Ting Fang, to establish an agricularal experimant station at Mukden, Manchuria.

When in this country before Minister Wu was greatly impressed with the work done at State College in behalf of scientific farming. It is proposed to establish the Chinese college along the same lines as the Pennsylvania State College.

—Three additional bishops were elected by the Methodist General conference on Tuesday. They were Rev. Dr. Charles W. Smith, editor of the Pittsburg Christian Advocate, and Rev. Drs. Lewis and Hughes. This makes six of the eight bishops to be chosen.

SLAYER OF CHILD EXAMINED

Bachman's Fate Rests on Decision as to Sanity

HE KILLED HIS NIECE.

Prisoner Appears to be Rational on all Subjects But Religion. Raves When Girl's Death is Mentioned.

READY TO "DIE FOR THE MASTER".

Easton, May 22nd.—Dr. W. W. Richardson, head expert at the Norristown Asylum today made a careful menta and physical examination of Robert Bachman, the Nazareth religious fanatic, who murdered his little niece, May Irene Smith, during a religious orgy in Bachman's home on April 28th.

The result of the examination was not made public but it is understood the finding Dr. Richardson will determine the course District Attorney McKeen will pursue in the case.

With the District Attorney, Assistant Distric Attorney Seip and three of the defendant's council—former Judge Kirkpatrick, Calvin Smith and Herbert T. Lamb, the mental expert visited the cell in which Bachman is confined at the county jail in this place.

Bachman appears to be sane enough on every other subject, but as soon as religion is mentioned or any reference is made to the death of his little niece he goes into that wild state that has characterized his conduct since his incarceration.

He persists in declaring that he was inspired by God to slay the child maintaining that the devil had taken refuge in her body so as to gain admission to the services that were being held in the Bachman home and which ended with the killing of the little girl. He clings to the belief that he is to be crucified and has no fear of death, declaring he is ready "to die for the Master."

"Crucify me if you will," he exclaimed to the officials this afternoon. "I am simply doing the Master's will. You may kill the flesh, but the spirit is beyond your reach.

Mrs. Bachman visited her husband in the prison several days ago, and it is reported that the supposed fanatic spoke to her as he would to an an ordinary visitor. He exhibited no pleasure at seeing her and made no reference to the murder of the child or to his imprisonment and impending prosecution.

To Test Corrupt Practices Act.

F. G. Paterson, treasurer of the campaign fund of W. B. Ward, who was nominated as the Republican candidate for assembly in the Altoona district, will resist the attempt to have an audit of the expense account he filed in the prothonotary's office. He filed an answer in court Wednesday in which he attacks the constitutionality of the corrupt practices act. He says he believes that sections 10, 11 and 12 of said act of assembly are not germane to the title and that the title thereof is not sufficient to give clear notice of the subject and is in conflict with section 3 of article III of the constitution of Pennsylvania, which provides:

"No bill shall be passed containing more than one subject which shall be clearly expressed in its title."

Section 25 of article III of the constitution provides as follows:

"When the general assembly shall be convened in special session there shall be no legislation upon subjects other than those designated in the proclamation of the governor calling such special session."

Petitioner says that said act of March 5, 1906, was passed at a special session of the general assembly and the subject legislated upon was not designated in the governor's proclamation calling said session. It is, therefore, unconstitutional illegal and void.

Judge Bell granted a rule to show cause, returnable at the June term of court.

Reward for Bravery.

Louis Lemade, a foreman in the South Williamsport nail works, has received a substantial recognition for bravery. The Carnegie hero fund commission has awarded him a medal and $500 for having saved four lives on June 10, 1906, when he saved Francis O'Dea, Arthur Pineau, Lewis Jenkins, and Charles Krauser from drowning in the river.

These four young men and Edward Fourney were on the stream in a gasoline launch when a storm arose and simultaneously their fuel gave out. The boat started to move toward the dam with nothing to prevent it from going over. Fourney tried to swim to the shore and was drowned. The only one to answer the cries of the boys was Mr. Lamade, who hurried from his home near the river on the south side, rowed in a flat bottom boat to the launch and succeeded in getting the boys safely to shore.

McKean Republicans Endorse Knox.

A special meeting of the McKean county Republicans was held at Bradford on Tuesday, with 40 out of 46 members present. Strong resolutions were adopted endorsing the national and state administrations, President Roosevelt, Senators Penrose and Knox, Governor Stuart, Congressman Barclay and the state legislators.

Particularly strong and unqualified endorsement was given the candidacy of Senator Knox for President, and calling on Delegates Emery and Boulton in no uncertain terms to support Knox at Chicago in every way possible as the choice of the great majority of the Republicans of McKean county for the nomination.

The resolution used the same terms of qualifications that Emery stated before the primaries he would require in the man he would support, namely, "One who would adopt, maintain and enforce Roosevelt's policy," and these terms were used in the resolution as directly and justly applicable to Senator Knox.

Play Ball With Bombs.

An explosion occured at Lansdown Tuesday night in the Burmont Chemical and Torpedo Works, by which four foreign workmen were seriously injured. It was in the mixingroom, where the powder and torpedoes are stored, and which is separated from the main building.

Two of the men, it is understood, were playing ball with torpedoes when one of the "balls" struck a brick wall and exploded.

The sparks set fire to a quantity of powder, and in the explosion that followed the building was gutted and the men were terribly burned.

J. M. GUFFEY RULED

Convention Was Marked by a Sensational Clash of Booms.—Berry Defeated for Delegate at Large

GRAY—JOHNSON ALLIES DOMINATE

Harrisburg, May 20.—In a rattling, old fashioned Democratic Convention, Colonel James M. Guffey today completely routed his political opponents who marshaled their forces under the banner of the Bryan League of Pennsylvania.

Not only did he block the personal ambitions of men at the head of this organization to go as delegates to the Denver convention, but he forced the fighting from the start, and in one of the most turbulent gatherings of State Democrats in recent years, he defeated a proposed amendment to the party platform calling for an indorsement of William Jennings Bryan for the Presidency, after his friends had in committee not only turned down this secondary move, but also, by a large majority, defeated a motion to instruct the four delegates at large to vote for Bryan.

After the extravagant claims made by the Bryanites, and the fact that Bryan himself made at least three visits to Pennsylvania to encourage his friends within the last few months, the action of today's convention must be a sore disappointment to the Bryan adherents, not only in this State, throughout the country

Members of the George Gray League and the John A. Johnson organization, who gave a sentimental support to the Guffeyites in the struggle which has been under way for months, are each taking credit for a share in the victory. "The allies" are jubilant throughout the State tonight.

When Guffey saw that his friends were in absolute control of the situation he yielded to the demands of some of his advisers and "cut out" some of the men who have been prominent in his councils, but who have been accused of flirting with the Bryan propaganda and with showing more apparent interest in Bryan than in the Guffey leadership.

When the vote was taken for delegate-at-large for which seven men were placed in nomination, Wm. H. Berry received the lowest vote cast.

Lock Haven Kirmess.

An eyewitness to the Lock Haven Kirmess, which is being given in that city for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A., under the direction of Miss Lila A. Stewart, of Middletown, N. Y., write us that it is probably one of the biggest and best home talent productions ever given there.

Miss Stewart has directed more than eighty Kirmesses all over the United States, and her remarkable ability was shown when the first performance occurred without a hitch. In fact, the performance in many respects was of a professional order, displaying rare skill and talent.

The elite of the city are interested and it is safe to say that never has such an assemblage of beauty and talent been gathered together on one occasion in Lock Haven, and the pretty girls with their escorts all attired in stunning costumes are a picture that delights the eye and ravishes the senses.

Opening with the courtly and stately court minuet and following with dance after dance illustrating the costumes of Holland, Italy, Scotland, America and Spain, the performance is a kaleidoscope of color, moving and swaying with the rythm of the dance that is truly delightful. Four performances were given during the week and by request it will be repeated tonight. During the evening there is an intermission of 30 minutes to give opportunity for social intercourse and to visit the various boothe. It certainly is an event well worth seeing.

Words of Caution.

A neighboring paper, the Williamsport Gazette and Bulliten performs a good service for the public in cautioning widows of union veterans of the war of the Rebellion against the greedy pension sharks at Washington. These sharks are sending out letters to soldiers widows, throughout the country, soliciting their applications for pensions under the recent act of congress, The act provides that widows who have received less than $12 per month, shall have their pensions increased to $12. Prospective beneficiares of this law shonld take notice that it is not necessary for them to apply to any body for the increase; the amount will be paid to them when they present their vouchers to the local agents at the next pay day.

Avis Boom All Off.

Upon the failure of the rumored and hoped for activities at Avis to materialize, many of the residents have despaired of the announcement made two weeks ago by a Philadelphia contractor, upon the occasion of his visit to the place, at which time he gave out the cheering information that he was in town to make arrangements to start on a job at the Avis yards of the New York Central railroad, which would keep a large number of men in employment for about two years. This news was hailed with delight by the people and merchants of Jersey Shore and Avis. They hoped that at last the contemplated enlargement of the Avis shops was about to become a realty. But alas and alack! At this early day after the contractor's sunshiny announcement comes the evidence that the intelligence was erroneous. Upon his visit, the Italian padrone who accompanied the city contractor began negotiations with the district passenger agent's office at Williamsport for the transportation of a crowd of laborers from Williamsport to Avis, over the New York Central, the men to come from Philadelphia over the Reading. Saturday J. W. Brainerd, the district passenger agent at Williamsport notified the officials at Jersey Shore that the labor agent had ocmmunicated with his department that day to the effect that all negotiations were off, the Philadelphian giving as the reason of his action that the contract for the work at Avis had been cancelled.

To Rid Streams of Sewage.

Professor Elton D. Walker, of State College, who has just completed a two days visit to Danville as the representation of Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, State commissioner of health, is authority for the statement, made before leaving town Monday, that the day was very near at hand when every municipality in the commonwealth would be obliged by the state department of health to remove its sewers from the river and streams and dispose of sewage by some other means. The order, Dr. Walker stated, is likely to come within a year. The manner of Professor Walker's inspection of the situation in Danville indicated that he was there to determine how great a factor this town is in river pollution.

His examination into all details was most minute. While here he also took occasion to visit the Danville State hospital for the insane, visiting the stockyards there, and taking especial note of the manner in which the sewage of that institution contaminates the river a short distance above that town.—Milton Standard.

Trolley Collision Kills Five.

In a trolley collision at Germantown and Hillcrest avenues, Philadelphia, Sunday night four persons were instantly killed, one died on the way to the hospital and a number of others were seriously injured. The accident was caused by the brake on one of the large cars refused to work while the car was decending a hill, with the result that it jumped the track at Summit avenue. Here it bounded into another car filled with passengers on their way home from the White City Park.

BRYAN WHACKS BOSS RULE

Large Crowd Greets Him in Altoona Thursday Evening.

2500 IN ATTENDANCE

He Declars That theBig Boss of th e Democratic Party Defeated the Desires of the Voters

DIDN'T LIKE ACTION OF CONVENTION

Altoona, May 21.—William J. Bryan lectured in Mishler Opera House this evening before 2,500 people. He expressed his opinion of the Democratic State convention. He said:

"I think that the Harrisburg convention is an excellent illustration of the difference between conventions and the primary method of election. At the primary where the voters had a chance to express themselves, more than two-thirds of the district delegates were instructed, and yet in the state convention the delegates elected at the same primaries joined in with a political boss to defeat instructions.

"Take Philadelphia, for instance. Forty-one delegates, who were elected at the primaries were district delegates to Denver were instructed, voted in the state convention against instructions.

"A delegate has no more right to turn to his private advantage the authority conferred upon him by voters than a trustee has to convert to his own use money deposited with him.

"The action of the state convention, was, in effect, an embezzlement of power, and can be defended only by those who are ignorant of, or indifferent to the Democratic principle that conventions derive their just powers from the consent of the voters. The question as to what candidate the Democrats of Pennsylvania favor is of little importance compared with the question: "Have the Democrats of Pennsylvania a right to a voice in the selection of candidates?"

"The fact that it was necessary to turn down men like Representative Cressy and ex-Treasurer Berry shows how desperate the men in control were. The object lesson furnished in boss rule carried to the extreme will be valuable, for it will hasten the regeneration of Democratic policies in Pennsylvania, and regeneration is necessary if the Democratic party is to be more than an adjunct of the Republican party."

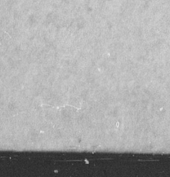
Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.



It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The True Mechanic.

After a man has worked in shops for ten or fifteen years there is a great desire for a change. Some want to go out on a farm, others think that the invention of something that can be patented will solve the problem, while others want to own and run a shop themselves. The latter is really the true mechanic, but not necessarily the man who will get out the most or even the best work while working for a boss, says Charles Henry in the Workers' Magazine. On the contrary, he will often be considered the lazy man by the foreman when the work is of an ever recurring character. Let, however, some difficulty arise in connection with a job or have some hard proposition to meet and he will always have a suggestion to offer that will help to solve the problem, while the ordinary man and the hustler will stand around helpless and often disinterested. He will have the elementary laws of mechanics and physics at his finger tips, will know enough of electricity to allow him to discourse upon the subject in an intelligent manner, and he will be well posted upon the mechanical progress of the day.

A Dressmaker of Yarmouth.

In the churchyard of Caister, close to Yarmouth, is the grave of the "quiet, little, gentle voiced dressmaker," of whom at her death in October, 1843, the then bishop of Norwich said, "I would canonize Sarah Martin if I could." Yarmouth reveres her to this day. A stained glass window has been placed to her memory in the parish church, where her prayer book is still preserved, while her journal is one of the treasures of the public library in the tollhouse. Underneath this building was the miserable dungeon which served as the borough prison, and it was to the amelioration of the lot of the wretched prisoners that Sarah Martin devoted her life. Earning a bare subsistence of fifteen pence a day by toiling from early morning till far on into the night, she yet managed to give up one day in the week to her labor of love. She died in poverty, but the result of her life's work was the reform of the prison system of Yarmouth.—London Chronicle.

Burned It Into Memory.

One of the most characteristically eccentric things ever done by Gelett Burgess (and one of the few true stories of him) was to spend three or four days in constructing of cardboard, mica and green velvet a little model of an old New England house, complete as to windows, curtains, lawn, garden, trees and even including a hammock with a tiny hat and summer novel and washing stretched out on a clothesline on the back stoop. This was for a dinner given to several literary friends in New York, and when the coffee was served he deliberately set fire to the whole farm. His explanation was that had it been spared his guests might have forgotten the affair, but they would always remember the destruction of the house. No one who ever saw the little house go up in smoke on its little hill of damp moss will ever forget it.

The Misplaced Comma.

"Some lawsuits of the highest importance have hinged upon the right placing of a comma," said a judge.

"When I first started to practice law a Missouri editor came to me in a peck of trouble to defend him against a threatened libel suit growing out of faulty punctuation. He had not meant to give some innocent young women the slightest offense when he wrote a story about 'two young men who went with their girls to attend a lecture and after they left, the girls got drunk.' Putting that miserable little comma out of its right place did the work, as it made the girls the ones who became inebriated instead of their escorts. I managed by proper diplomacy and the publication of a neat apology to stave off the damage suits, and afterward my editorial friend became an expert on punctuation."—Baltimore American.

Taunting.

Old Noah hunted up a barrel stave and started off for the stern of the ark.

"Where are you going?" asked Mrs. Noah.

"I am going to whale that boy Ham," replied Noah, with a frown.

"But, my dear, the lad is only playing on his banjo."

"Yes, but it is the tune he is playing."

"And what is the tune?"

"'Wait Till the Sun Shines, Lizzie.'"—Chicago News.

Angry Adjectives.

It was not a young woman novelist, but Charles Sumner, of whom the late E. L. Godkin, the New York editor, said:

He works his adjectives so hard that if they ever catch him alone they will murder him.

Very Steady.

American Woman in German Eyes.

American girls, whether born or merely brought up in America, evidence the same independence of judgment and the same complete self reliance. It is hard to say whether this is the result of the education in the public schools and colleges or in their freedom from that condition of legal and social subserviency to which the gentler sex is doomed in older countries.—Max von Brandt in Berlin Deutsche Revue.

Quite a "Character."

Here is a "character" given to a servant on leaving her last situation: "The bearer has been in my house a year, less eleven months. During this time she has shown herself diligent at the house door, frugal in work, mindful of herself, prompt in excuses and honest when everything was out of the way."—London Tit-Bits.

Awed Into Humility.

Man for man, if not woman for woman, the humility and terror of Americans in the presence of English people of their own class or above it is, with whatever care disguised, a pathetic thing.—London Outlook.

A Little Too Far.

"There is such a thing as overdoing your part," declared a man of the law who now has the knowledge gained by much experience.

"Shortly after I began practice in the west I was called upon to defend a man who had drawn a revolver on another and threatened to kill him. The accused did not have a character above reproach, but the prosecuting witness was also shady in reputation and I made the most of this fact. I pictured him as a desperado of the most dangerous type, a man that was a constant menace to the community and one who would recognize no other law than that of force. Such men as he, I insisted, made necessary the organization of vigilance committees and injured the fair name of the west among the older communities of the country.

"The jury returned a verdict of guilty and my man was sentenced to a year's imprisonment. As soon as court adjourned the foreman of the jury came to me and said: 'Young feller, you spread it on too thick. After that there rip snortin' speech of yourn we couldn't do nothin' else 'an what we done.'

"'I don't understand you, sir.'

"'You don't? Why, we found the durned gerloot guilty 'cause he didn't shoot.'"—Detroit Free Press.

To Clean Suede Gloves.

Put the gloves on the hands and then rub them with fuller's earth on a small brush. An old nail or tooth brush will do excellently. Some people use fuller's earth and powdered alum in equal quantities instead of the earth alone.

Just praise is only a debt, but flattery is a present.—French Proverb.

Do You Like Honest, Square Dealing?

Dr. Pierce's world-famed medicines are put out under the belief that publicity is the best possible guaranty of merit, and that the most intelligent people generally want to know what they take into their stomachs, whether it be as food, drink or medicine. Although it was a bold step to take, and quite out of the usual practice of makers of proprietary medicines, yet Dr. Pierce, some time ago, decided to publish broadcast and on all his bottle-wrappers all the ingredients entering into the composition, or make-up, of his celebrated family medicines. A square deal is therefore assured every one using his medicines, for one knows exactly what he or she is paying for when purchasing them, since every ingredient is published in plain English on the bottle-wrappers and the correctness of the same attested under solemn oath. These several ingredients are selected from among the very best known to medical science for the cure of the various diseases for which these medicines are recommended.

The most eminent and leading medical teachers and writers of all the several schools of practice have endorsed each of the ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines in the strongest possible terms. The makers of Dr. Pierce's medicines believe that intelligent people do not wish to open their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulp down whatever is presented to them, either in the way of food, drink or medicine, without knowing something of the properties and harmless character of the agents employed. They believe that health is too sacred a heritage to be experimented with, and that people should not take medicines of the composition of which they are kept in ignorance. Dr. Pierce's medicines are made wholly from the roots of plants found growing in the depths of our American forests. They are so compounded that they cannot do harm in any case, even to the most delicate woman or child. By open publicity Dr. Pierce has taken his medicines out of the list of secret nostrums, of doubtful merit, and made them REMEDIES OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. They are therefore, in a class all by themselves, being absolutely and in every sense non-secret.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny.

There is a badge of honesty on every bottle of Dr. Pierce's medicines in the full list of its ingredients duly attested as correct under solemn oath.

No other medicines put up for general use through druggists can make claim to any such distinction, and none other than Dr. Pierce's medicines have any such professional endorsement of their ingredients. Such professional endorsement should have far more weight with the afflicted than any amount of lay, or non-professional, endorsement, or testimonials.

Of course, the exact proportion of each ingredient used in Dr. Pierce's medicines as well as the working formula or manner of preparing the same, and the specially devised apparatus and appliances employed in their manufacture, are withheld from publicity that Dr. Pierce's proprietary rights may be fully protected from such unprincipled imitators as might be piratically inclined.

The preparation of these medicines without the use of a drop of alcohol, so generally employed and yet so harmful, in the long run, to most invalids when its use is long continued, even in small doses, cost Dr. Pierce several years of careful study and labor, with the aid of skilled pharmacists and chemists to assist him. Naturally, he does not care to give away his scientific and exact processes for preparing these medicines, but he does want to deal in the most open manner with all his patrons and patients, and under this frank, open and honest way of dealing, they may know exactly what they are taking when using his medicines.

What Do They Cure? This question is often asked concerning Dr. Pierce's two leading medicines, "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription."

The answer is that "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most potent alterative or blood-purifier, and tonic or invigorator and acts especially favorably in a curative and healing way upon all the mucous lining surfaces as of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels and bladder, curing a large per cent. of catarrhal cases whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchia, stomach (as catarrhal dyspepsia), bowels (as mucous diarrhea), bladder, uterus or other pelvic organs. Even in the chronic or ulcerative stages of these affections, it is often successful in effecting cures.

The "Favorite Prescription" is advised for the cure of one class of diseases only—those peculiar weaknesses, derangements and irregularities incident to women. It is a powerful yet gently acting invigorating tonic and strengthening nervine. For weak, worn-out, over-worked women—no matter what has caused the break-down, "Favorite Prescription" will be found most effective in building up the strength, regulating the womanly functions, subduing pain and bringing about a healthy, vigorous condition of the whole system.

Women suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Doctor Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (1000 pages) is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address as above.

THE WOMAN WHO COUGHED.

Catarrh had nearly ruined me. It had eaten away the partition in my nose; produced Asthma, Bronchitis, Rheumatism; ruined my stomach; in fact, gone all through my system. Then Grip finished me. I was a wreck; took cold at nothing; and coughed day and night. The doctors dosed me with opium and quinine. No good. Cough "cures"? Bah! Then Brazilian Balm renovated me. Killed every germ. Took 10 $1.00 bottles. Now I'm like a girl of 18.

JUDGING from the balloting for Bishops Methodism has as many favorite sons as the Republican party.

THE Pennsylvania delegation does not go to Bryan but perhaps Bryan will come to the Pennsylvania delegation.

THE Kentucky night riders now engage in religious services before burning crops and barns, but it is understood that the victims do not appreciate the spiritual comfort intended.

PENNSYLVANIA Democrats are not interested in a forlorn hope hence the delegates to the Denver convention are privileged to vote for some one who will at least stand a fighting chance.

ONLY the pessimists can read of of an order for two thousand all steel cars for the Pittsburg & Lake Erie railroad, and other rush orders for equipment of other railroads, without seeing the substantial signs of returning prosperity.

TOM JOHNSON of Cleveland, evidently thinks it is a hard job in this world to please everybody. He has discovered that, desirable as are the three cent fares, they alone are not sufficient to bring the first glimpse of millennial dawn.

THE State College Times has just rounded out a ten year existance and enters on its eleventh year with hope for the future, The Times is a clean and neat little sheet and is a welcome visitor to our exchange table. May it continue to meet with a well merited success.

KELLAR the magician, has closed his professional career after being on the stage for forty years. Mr. and Mrs. Kellar will go to southen California where they will make their permanent home.

THE campaign which is being waged in the interests of pure food by the State board of health of Vermont is increasing in bitterness. The board has just passed a resolution which empowers the state inspector of food to seize and destroy all articles of food which upon analysis have been found to be below the standard.

Miss Bella Bruce, of the New York Woman's exchange, claims that man is better fitted to the general superintendent of the domestic arrangements and all the details that enter into domestic economy, than is a woman. For confirmation of her belief Miss Bruce points to the fact that men are in charge of the culinary departments of railroad trains and ocean liners, which are conducted with the minimum of friction and expense. Since man is the bread winner and cannot stay at home to manage the household she suggests that the housewives should study and imitate the masculine methods. Let the household be conducted in a business like manner and it will not be difficult to retain servants.

GEN. MILLER AND SENATOR KNOX.

General Charles Miller, of Franklin, Pa., a prominent business man and leader of the G. A. R., in an interview voiced the sentiments of the Republicans of the state when he said:

"Perhaps men of other states look upon Pennsylvania as so safely Republican that it is not necessary to think about nominating a Pennsylvania man for the Presidency. We have not had a man from the Keystone State in the White House since Buchanan, and I think it is about time we were being recognized, Of course we are serious in our support of Knox for the Presidency. We are fond of the Senator, whom we know to be admirably qualified for that high place. He would give us an administration that would be a credit to himself and to the country, and would extend our business interests. That is what we want the promotion of our home industries.

"It is all very well to talk about the Constitution and Old Glory; it is fine to be patriotic and to install patriotism in the minds of our youth I fought for the flag in the Civil War and would fight for it again. But we cannot win business by talking about the Stars and Stripes and the Constitution. You remember the man who went to the Orient with a flag in one hand and a copy of the Constitution under his arm: He extolled the beauties of the one and exp'ained the other, but when he got through the Jap said to him; 'Well, what do you want? I don't care to hear about your Constitution; your flag is pretty. But if you have anything to sell, trot it out and let's have a look at it.'"

Students are Taking a Hand.

It was rather out of the ordinary for the judges in an oratorical contest at Lafyette College to award a member of the junior class the first prize of $50 in gold, in view of the fact that the young orator concluded his address on "Responsibility" with a red-hot attack upon the methods of the faculty. He made a strong appeal for student recognition in the government and management of certain affairs of colleges and incidentally raked the faculty of Lafayette over the coals for various shortcomings.

Of course, there was a sensation and President Warfield was visibly embarrassed, but the judges were unanimously of the opinion that the matter as well as the manner of the young orator entitled him to the prize in the contest.

It is not certain that the incident will end with the presentation of the prize, inasmuch as, there may be a strong dispsiotion on the part of the students to take advantage of the situation, but in any event the tendency of the American student to insist upon sharing responsibility has been growing in the educational institutions of the country for several years.

The outcome of the affair at Lafyette will be awaited with some interest.

"AMERICAN industries" for May has the following to say regarding one of the country's needs; "What this country needs now is not a radical politician, but a man who is familiar with the underlying principles of business from the standpoint of a business man. The concensus of opinion, as it comes from the uttermost ends of this country, the highways and byways, the industrial centres in all sections, is to the effect that a business man must again enter the arena of politics as in the Bryan and McKinley campaigns. America has been known for many years as a nation of traders. It is about time the nation should be run with some regards for business principles."

"Between optimist and pessimist
The difference is very droll;
The optimist sees the doughnut,
The pessimist sees the hole."

So it is with those who can not get any hope from the announcement of the activities among the railroad companies and the coal mining interests as well as in many other branches of the labor world. The acuteness of the industrial depression is at our backs.

OBSERVE THE DAY PROPERLY

Next Saturday is Memorial day and the Grand Army posts all over the country will observe it in the customary and appropriate manner. To the aged veterans of the great Civil war the thought of participating in this annual celebration is a pleasing one. They take a solemn pleasure in marching to the burial grounds and decorating with flowers of spring the graves of old comrades in arms who have gone before. It is a pleasing custom and one that teaches a lesson in patriotism to the young that is not without good effect.

Memorial day should, therefore, be held in high regard by the American people. It ought not to be desecrated in any way. Hold it sacred, not only out of regard for the feelings of those who helped to fight their country's battles in the hour of its greatest peril, but out of respect for yourselves. He who will deliberately join in any act that may be properly regarded as a desecration of Memorial day is either extremely thoughtless, or else lacking in a wholsome appreciation of the day and the meaning which its observation conveys.

This paper's advice to its readers is, therefore, to show all due respect to the day. Observe it as well as you can consistently. Let the surviving heroes of the Civil war see that you respect the sentiment which inspired the Memorial custom and have not lost your regard for the men who gave their lives in defense of the liberties of the land.

IN an editorial on Memorial day in last week's issue it was stated that "the Grand Army of the Republic had announced that May 30th coming would be their last time for marching to the cemeteries." There was an omission in the article and it should have read the Grand Army of the Republic, of Jamestown, N. Y.

Ulysis Arnold a Frenchman living near Sandy Ridge, died on Friday aged 80 years and was buried Sunday at Osceola. One son survives.

Attorney W. D. Crsby was taken with a slight stroke of paralysis on Saturday night but is slowly recovering from it. Members of the legal profession don't often suffer this way; they mostly paralize the other folks.

Saturday was pay day at Morrisdale and some other mines, and the crowds in town that afternoon and evening "looked good to us." There seems to be a promise of improvement in the coal situation according to authorities and if this is true our old town will boom along with the best of them. This is the original home of the nimble sixpense.

Hon. P. E. Womelsdorff was called to Philadelphia Sunday evening on another Pennsylvania railroad suit. Mr. Womelsdorff is greatly in demand as "expert testimony" in mining matters just now, and since many mine owners are busier trying to get square with the coal carrying companies than in selling black diamonds for fun since there is no profit in the price offered he has time to spare for the witness stand. In a recent case tried at Harrisburg two weeks ago, his knowledge of the mines in question saved the railroad company a couple of hundred thousand dollars it is said.

Seven Feet of Bowel Removed.

Thomas Gillespie, aged twent-one years and a resident of Midvalley, was taken seriously ill several days ago and Dr. Houston, of Mt. Carmel, was summoned to attend him. After a complete diagnosis, in which he was assisted by several other physicians, Dr. Houston determined that the young man was suffering from an obstruction of the intestines, and that an operation would be necessary. Accordingly, the youth was taken to the Miner's hospital. On Sunday afternoon in the presence of a number of physicians, Dr. Biddle performed one of the most difficult operations in the history of the hospital by removing seven and one-fourth feet of bowel, the operation being succeseful in every detail.

Slices off Nose in a Fall.

William Longenberger, a carpenter, employed on the farm of R. Scott Ammerman, near Shamokin, lost his nose, completely severed by falling from the second story of a new building, upon the keen edge of a hatchet in the hand of a fellow workman.

The carpenter below was raising his hatchet to drive a nail when Longenberger falling with terrible momentum, met the upward stroke.

The injured man was driven six miles to the nearest doctor, where the injured organ was sewed in place.

Never Without Pe-ru-na in My House

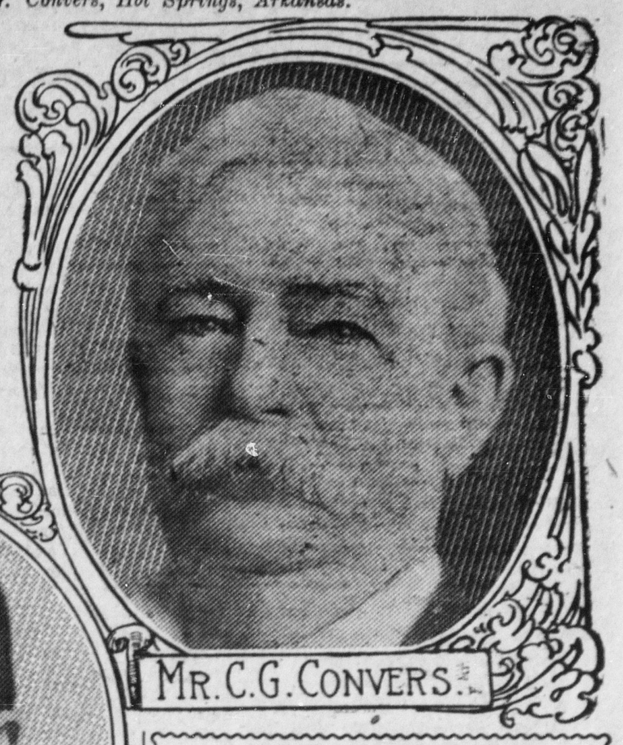
So Writes Mr. C. G. Convers, Hot Springs, Arkansas.

There Are a Multitude of People in the United States Who Have Been Restored to Health By the Use of Pe-ru-na.

There are a multitude of people in the United States who have been restored to health by the use of Peruna. There is no use trying to deny this fact.

As a rule, doctors dislike to admit it. There is now and then a courageous doctor who does admit it, however. In such cases Peruna is prescribed by the doctor himself. Even though the doctor suffers pecuniary loss by such a transaction his patient is benefited, which ought to be the doctor's chief concern.

We do not claim that doctors generally prescribe Peruna. But we do claim whenever Peruna is intelligently prescribed it rarely disappoints either the doctor or patient.



MR. C. G. CONVERS.

MR. JAMES P. BRACKEN.

Nasal Catarrh and Indigestion.

Mr. James P. Bracken, 610 Tenth Ave., New York City, N. Y., has occupied the office of Water Inspector of New York City for the past fifteen years. He carries on an extensive plumbing business at 610 10th Ave. He is Post Deputy of Grand Knights of Reigna Celia Council Knights of Columbus, N. Y. He writes as follows:

"For nearly a dozen years catarrh has bothered me in one form or another. I was troubled with nasal catarrh that had affected my stomach, which troubled me most in the morning. My appetite was poor, and I did not seem to relish my food. Indigestion bothered me at times, also. I was advised to take Peruna, and I took it as prescribed for a month when my cure was almost complete. Today there is not a trace of catarrh in my system, and I can say without hesitation that Peruna cured me."

Kidney Disease.

Mr. Samuel A. Paxton, 1118 Troost Ave., Kansas City, Mo., member I. O. O. F. and National Annuity Association, writes:

"I am a well man today, thanks to your splendid medicine, Peruna.

"I was troubled with catarrh and kidney disease of long standing when I first began using Peruna. I soon found I was getting better, and continued taking it for four months. It cleaned out the system, leaving me well and strong and feeling better than I have in years."

Colds and Stomach Trouble.

Mr. C. G. Convers, Pres. Cold Storage Ice and Coal Co., Hot Springs, Ark., writes:

"I had been troubled with a very serious case of catarrh for a number of years. Having tried many prescriptions by good physicians, I found myself no better.

"On the advice of a friend who had used Peruna with good results I purchased a bottle. The results were so good that I continued using it. Have, perhaps, in the last three years used a dozen bottles, which have kept me from the trying troubles of catarrh. I am never without a bottle of Peruna in my house.

"One always gets relief from colds and indigestion if you have Peruna."

Catarrh of Bladder.

Mr. Michael Rooney, 26 Fifth St., Watervliet, N. Y., writes:

"If I had known of Peruna years ago I should have been saved much suffering. Under carelessness and exposure in my younger years my system got into a very bad condition before I was aware of it.

"My doctor thought that I had catarrh of the bladder and duly prescribed for me, but nothing did me any good.

"My friends advised me to try Peruna, for which I am very thankful, as it has cured me in two months, and I am in perfect health."

Catarrh of the Head and Stomach.

Mr. Frank Richter, of 209 East 2nd St., Winona, Minn., writes: "I take pleasure in recommending Peruna for catarrh of the stomach. Peruna cured me, and I know it will cure any one else who suffers from this disease. My catarrh was principally located in my head and stomach. I tried many remedies without success. I read of Peruna in the papers, and five bottles cured me."

El Dorado.

The modern meaning of El Dorado may be traced as follows: One of Pizarro's men said that he had discovered a land of boundless wealth between the Orinoco and the Amazon. This country was named El Dorado, and many adventurers, among them Sir Walter Raleigh, endeavored to find it; hence the name has come to mean a golden country of the mind, a fabulous land of fabulous wealth, much as Cockaigne, a fancied land of luxury and idleness.—New York American.

A Lucky Horseshoe.

The Australians when they find a horseshoe throw it over their shoulder. A lady in Sydney found one and threw it gracefully over her shoulder. It went through a hatter's window and hit a customer who was trying on a new hat. This gentleman, under the impression that one of the shopmen in a fit of temporary insanity had played the trick, promptly struck him and sent him through the plate glass window. A general melee ensued, although on consideration nobody knew what it was all about.

A Contradiction.

Although a woman's age is undeniably her own she does not always own it.—Exchange.

Three Wives.

The Beggar—Please, sir, will you kindly assist a poor man who has three wives to support? The Pedestrian—Why, do you mean to say you are a bigamist? The Beggar—Oh, no, sir. Two of them are the wives of my sons-in-law.

SEWING SUGGESTIONS.

To prevent knots in cotton while sewing always thread your needle before cutting the cotton from the spool. This will prevent both knots and twisting.

Baby's bibs are prettily embroidered in the cross stitch with coarse embroidery cotton. The designs used are pictures of animals, birds and other things that appeal to the infant mind, and as the cross stitch is one of the easiest methods of embroidery baby's belongings can always be decorated in this way.

What the circular skirt was a few years ago we now see the godet pattern. The skirt portion is fitted smoothly over the hips, and the front is cut in a decided point. To this is attached the plaited flounce, which is short in front and high in the back. For a linen skirt the pattern is graceful and stylish.

For the baby is made a lovely little coat of white handkerchief linen lined with washable white china silk. A circular collar is trimmed with a lace ruffle, and the little sleeves and all edges are trimmed in like fashion. The pattern is first outlined with small blue forget-me-nots and tied with blue ribbons.

The Efficacy of Prayer.

Among my esteemed neighbors there is a family known for the piety of its members and their implicit confidence in the efficacy of prayer. One of the daughters, Miss Kate B., has almost reached the age when she could be referred to ungallantly as an old maid. She is the target for many a good natured quip pertaining to her alleged hopes and endeavors in the direction of matrimony.

Not long ago a certain society of young men which had interested itself in a campaign for higher saloon license sent a committee to visit the homes of the district and obtain signatures to a high license petition. When this committee, numbering half a dozen members, ascended the front steps at the B. home my friend's wife was the first to see it through the front window.

"Laws, John!" she exclaimed to her husband. "See all those young men coming to visit us."

Mr. B. glanced out of the window, noted the number of the invading force and remarked, with an air of conviction:

"Humph! Kate's been praying again."—San Francisco Call.

The Cause.

Theater Goer—The love scene in your play isn't half so natural as it used to be last season. The same people in it too. Manager—Yes, but the lovers were married a few months ago.

Baseball Notes.

There was something doing in the Centre—Clinton League Saturday and all the games in the regular schedule and one extra was played. The Woolrich—Beech Creek game at Beech Creek was very closely contested and Beech Creek team finally won out by the close score of 4 to 5. At Howard where the Snow Shoe team played the game got as far on as the fourth inning when there was a kick on a decision by the umpire and the Snow Shoe team refused to go on with the game. The umpire considered the game forfeited and gave a decision of 9—0 in favor of Howard. The Orvis bunch laid it all over the Mill Hall team at the former place, the score being 10—1. The Woolrich team which lost to Beech Creek played the second game with Mill Hall and again lost by the close score of 2—1. This was hard luck to the Woolpickers as they have not yet landed a game, but thus far they have been making a good showing.

The standing of the clubs is now as follows:

	Won	Lost	P. C.
Orvis	2	0	1.000
Howard	2	0	1.000
Beech Creek	2	1	.667
Mill Hall	2	2	.500
Snow Shoe	1	3	.250
Woolrich	0	3	.000

An exciting game was played at Milesburg Saturday afternoon when the Axe Mann aggregation came up against the home team and received only 4 runs to their credit while the Milesburgers took 17 from the Axe Mann team. The game however was full of interest.

Not an Information Bureau.

Stringent orders have been issued by the post office department to all postmasters not to divulge the name or addresses of any of the patrons of the office. Heretofore, post-offices have been considered local directories, bureaus of information and depositories of all sorts of neighborly gossip. If a person wanted an address or list of names it was understood that the postmaster was in duty bound to supply his information, together with the habits of character and fitness of each individual who comes in contact with the postmaster or office. The guardians of Uncle Sam's postal affairs are requested to keep the affairs of the office as the business as inviolate as the business of a bank.

The Worship of Serpents.

The small town of Werda, in the kingdom of Dahomey, is celebrated for its "temple of serpents," a long building in which the priests keep upward of a thousand serpents of all sizes, which they feed with the birds and frogs brought to them as offerings by the natives.

These serpents, many of them of enormous size, may be seen hanging from the beams across the ceiling, with their heads pointing downward and in all sorts of strange contortions. The priests make the small serpents go through various evolutions by lightly touching them with a rod, but they do not venture to touch the largest ones, some of which are large enough to infold a bullock in their coils.

It often happens that some of these serpents make their way out of the temple into the town, and the priests have the greatest difficulty in coaxing them back. To kill a serpent intentionally is a crime punished with death, and if a European were to kill one the authority of the king himself would scarcely suffice to save his life. Any one killing a serpent unintentionally must inform the priest of what has occurred and go through the course of purification which takes place once a year.

Artificial Limbs.

"A manufacturer or dealer in artificial limbs who wears a cork arm or leg himself is much better equipped for business than his competitors who are sound," said a man who uses a cork leg. "In fact, it has become a sort of unwritten law among us to patronize such men when possible. Sentimental reasons may have something to do with the case, but I guess the chief reason is that we consider that if a man can make a limb for himself that fits like the paper on the wall he can make it for others. Manufacturers of artificial limbs know this, and frequently you will find an advertisement like this: 'The So-and-so artificial leg is built by a man who is wearing one and who knows from experience what you want for comfort.' This is a strong argument, for it's no easy thing to get an artificial limb that just fits. Persons who have trouble getting shoes that are just right are in great luck compared to us."—New York Sun.

An Admiral's Stories.

One of the English admirals has a choice collection of stories at the expense of laymen placed in office at the admiralty as a consequence of a turn of the political wheel. Of one lord of the admiralty he told a delighted house of commons how, receiving a report of disaster to a ship couched in technical phrase, he wrote a reply remonstrating with the officer for his use of bad language. Another civilian lord, looking over a chart and observing that one of his majesty's ships, homeward bound, passed within a space of two inches on the chart an island where castaway sailors were sheltering, wanted to know why it could not call and relieve them. The admiral explained that the two inches on the chart meant a distance at sea of 4,000 miles.—London Strand Magazine.

Marvelous Photograph

The most marvelous photograph ever made, showing 500 different views of President Roosevelt assembled in one big picture, forms the double-page feature of the June WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION. These hundreds of photographs taken in almost every state and territory in the Union, show our strenuous President in all periods of his public life—as cowboy, rough rider, governor, speaking, lecturing, on horeback, etc. Whether we admire Mr. Roosevelt or not, we cannot but marvel at the great collection of photographs of this human dynamo which have been brought together here in one picture. It is the most remarkable picture ever made.

Methodist Propose Union.

Through the commission of Senator Johnathan P. Dolliver the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church has sent an invitation to the Methodist Protestant church, which is holding a conference in Pittsburg to return to the parent body. The belief is expressed that it will result in the early union of the two bodies.

This movement is but the latest manifestation of closer union among the churches, the union of the several branches of Presbyterianism having occupied much attention several years ago.

It is probable that the ultimate result will be the union of all the fragments into the several denominations, and the effect should be good.

To the Class of 1908.

"Deal gently with them, gentle Time,"
Ner look with sad eyes where outgleam
The sweet, ethereal wakenings from dream
To real, real! things of Thine.

The youthful voice is hushed a little now,
And just within the laughing eyes
A shadow half of sorrow lies
And earnestness betokening new vow.

There is a subtle wistfulness, that clings
To the sweet fragrance of the hour
That stilled, reposeful power,
When the new-winged soul first sings.

'Tis now, an atom of a unit sum—
The dreams to active being start,
Each fragment as a perfect part,
First knows itself as a united one.'

The old associations are yet new,
The new life fed yet by the old,
The heart alone grows not cold
But warmer, as the years pass thru.

For when the dear old days are fled,
So has it been and so 'twill be
Those young lives, turned to thee
Each year, uphold their fountain head.

So smile in their joy or the thought of strife
If it perchance may share their dower,
For this is the joy as happy hour
When they are strong to meet thee—Life!

And when the last old songs are sung,
These memories hallow all the tears;
And 'mid the lessons of the years,
O keep their true hearts young, all young,
Dear graduates!

Decoration Day

This is an occasion in which all should participate, every citizen should hold in sacred remembrance of the fallen heroes of the late wars and join in honoring their resting places.

IN MEMORIAM.

As spring again returns to dress,
The landscape in its loveliness
We come with floral wreaths to grace
The soldiers honored resting place.

They sleep in peace beneath the sod,
Who wars rough path unwavering trod,
Nor clashing steel, nor cannons roar
Shall wake them from the rslumbers more

The garments rolled in blood have passed,
Hushed is the bugles mustering blast.
The impetuous charge the battles tread
No more disturb their tranquil bed.

On blood stained fields where carnage wide
Swept madly on the dared and died,
Nor shall their memory depart,
While deeds of valor thrill the heart.

But as the circling years roll round
Upon this consecrated ground
Surviving friends with thoughtful tread
Shall pass beside each turf clad bed

Fair hands and willing hearts will bring
The loveliest treasure of the spring.
And deck with wreaths and flowers gay
The hallowed turf that wraps their clay.

—Tuesday was likely the warmest day we have had this season and for once the rain was welcome.

Laundering Shirt Waists.

Mathilde, the popular washerwoman, having sprained her wrist, was unable to do her week's ironing, but she stood over the young Irish girl she had hired and directed the work.

"Maybe, Bridget," observed Mathilde, with a watchful eye on her understudy, "you'll t'ink, you, dat all shirt vaist ees iron alike. Maybe you'll t'ink she ees som' easy job for iron shirt vaist for hall dose lady of different shape.

Congressional Bell Signals.

On the floor of the house the doorkeeper has his desk, and it is here that the bells are struck that give notice of the needs of congress. One bell calls for tellers when the house is in committee of the whole; two bells indicate a call for yeas and nays; three declare a recess; with four bells the red light over the door goes out; five bells mean a "call of the house," under which the sergeant at arms is supposed to summarily arrest any member on sight and bring him in, whether on foot or horseback. Any member who is not present at a call of the house is subjected to a severe reprimand. Looking down the corridor, the going out of the red light gives the curious suggestion of the tail end of a passenger train dashing through a tunnel. While the red light burns bright and clear it means that congress is under way, but when the light winks and goes out then the visitors understand that the wheels of legislation have ceased to revolve.—National Magazine.

Countermanded.

A very devout clergyman had just married a couple and, as was his custom, offered a fervent prayer, invoking the divine blessing upon them. As they seemed to be worthy folk and not overburdened with this world's goods, he prayed, among other things, for their material prosperity and besought the Lord to greatly increase the man's business, laying much stress on this point.

In filling out the blanks it became necessary to ask the man his business, and, to the minister's horror, he said, "I keep a saloon."

In telling the story to his wife afterward the clergyman said that as he wrote down the occupation he whispered:

"Lord, you needn't answer that prayer."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Lord Kelvin and the Cable.

It is perhaps not generally known that the success of the Atlantic cable was due to the calculations and experiments of the late Lord Kelvin, at that time plain William Thomson. He discovered that the current through a long cable would arrive gradually at the receiving end and devised the apparatus which rendered it possible to utilize such a current for making the Morse signals. It was through disregard of his theoretical predictions that the first Atlantic cable, in 1858, was ruined by too powerful currents. Without his mirror galvanometer to translate into visible signals the delicate impulses received through the cable the enterprise would have been a complete failure.

How to Fill Up Holes in Wood.

It sometimes becomes necessary to fill up cracks or dents in fine woodwork, furniture, floors, etc. The following is the best way of doing it: White tissue paper is steeped and perfectly softened in water and by thorough kneading with glue transformed into a paste and by means of ochers (earth colors) colored as nearly as possible to the shade of the wood. To the paste calcined magnesia is then added, and it is forced into the cracks or very firmly to the wood and after drying retains its smooth surface.

An Apology.

An excited military looking gentleman entered the editorial sanctum one afternoon, exclaiming: "That notice of my death is false, sir. I will horsewhip you within an inch of your life, sir, if you don't apologize in your next issue."

The editor inserted the following next day: "We extremely regret to announce that the paragraph which stated that Major Blazer was dead is without foundation."—Detroit Free Press.

A Lark.

What a lark it would be if an egg came down the chimney!

No, it wouldn't, unless it was a lark's egg, and even then not until it was hatched.

The head, like the stomach, is most easily infected with poison when it is empty.—Jean Paul Richter.

Telephone Chief Drowns

Harrisburg, May 24.—W. A. Scarlett, chief engineer of the American Union Telephone Company, was drowned while canoeing on the Susquehanna at Dauphin nine miles above this city. With Mr. Scarlett was Granville Herbert.

Their canoe upset, throwing both into the water. They lost hold of the boat and Herbert was rescued by W. Mead of Rockville, who went out in a boat.

The river is very high and it is supposed the swift current carried Scarlett so far that his skill as a swimmer was unavailing. Scarlett was an enthusiastic canoeist. He leaves a wife.

Since the old Jersey "bos" came fresh there has been living in the writer's home. Before that for a couple of months it was just existing.

A plentiful sowing of beets or mangel wurtzels this spring will furnish a nourishing and succulent ration for the milk cows next fall and winter and one that they will greatly enjoy.

A slow rain of from one-half to three-quarters of an inch, which soak into the ground as it falls, does more real good than the three inches which comes down in buckets full in the average thunderstorm.

The thing that makes the bur oak a hard tree to transplant is also responsible for its standing more drought than many other varieties of trees—a taproot which goes down deep until it strikes a stratum of permanent moisture.

The broad gauge, patriotic citizen if he does not have a heavy load aboard will drive his team in the center of the newly graded road. It is very natural to leave this preliminary travel on a new road for the next fellow who comes along.

The blue grass pasture furnishes an almost ideal and properly balanced ration for stock. This is indicated not only by the relish with which they eat the grass, but the good it does them in the matter of growth or in milk or meat production.

It is questionable whether it pays to try to veal a calf that can only be fed a skimmilk ration during the first three or four weeks. After this time the butter fat in the whole milk ration may be in part substituted by shelled corn and boiled flaxseed meal.

Unlike most other members of the clover family, alsike does well on wet soil. It should be sowed in late summer or early fall when the ground can be worked to the best advantage and when a maximum work shall have been done in the matter of killing weed seed in the soil.

Good feed, kind treatment and a reliably made cream separator are pretty sure to mean success with the dairy. Of course it is taken for granted in this statement that the members of the dairy herd have been tested and that only those that are paying their board bill are on hand.

It is due to the children in the home, but particularly to the good wife, whose view of the outdoor world is so often circumscribed by it, that the front yard should be utilized for something beside a chicken ranch or a hog lot. Hogs are all right in their place, but that is out back of the barn.

Some one has said that the forests of the country are one of nature's savings banks. Accepting this statement as substantially correct, it is fair to state that a whole lot of bank wrecking is going on in the suicidal and short-sighted forest policy which is being followed by the commercial interests of the country.

In the mammoth wheatfields of the Pacific coast states harvesting operations are done on a scale to correspond. A machine called the header and hauled by from twenty to sixty head of horses or an immense gasoline traction engine and cutting a swath fourteen feet in width heads, thrashes, cleans and sacks the grain in one process.

Very few enemies of the rose bed will be able to do it harm if it is given a thorough spraying every morning with the garden hose with the water under good pressure. Sprayed as often as this, the lice, slugs and other pests are not given time enough to prosecute their work, being unceremoniously knocked off by the force of the water.

Inasmuch as dirt is the common name for microbes and bacteria, the less dust and dirt there are at milking time the freer from germs of various kinds will the milk be. The most careful dairymen not only see that the back and sides are brushed carefully before milking, but that the udder and teats of the cow as well as the hands of the operator are carefully washed. These precautions simply mean clean milk and make possible a first class butter product.

While a good many fakes and swindles are worked upon folks who are entirely unoffending and not to blame, the vast majority are made possible because of the eagerness on the part of the victim to get something for nothing, or at least a good deal more than he has reason to expect as a return from a legitimate transaction. Where folks get taken in in this way they are entitled to no sympathy, as they merely get a dose of their own medicine in a slightly different form.

It is estimated that the dairymen of the state of Iowa alone lose annually $30,000,000 as a result of keeping unprofitable cows in their dairy herds and through not giving the cream that is produced the care which will produce the highest grade of butter.

Up to 1873 not more than $25,000 was invested in orange groves in California. As a result of the introduction of the navel orange in that year the industry has developed until today there is invested in the culture of this same navel orange $100,000,000 in California alone.

It is generally agreed that while the dairy type of steer will never make as good quality of beef as the strictly beef type, he will make more rapid gains than will the other, this because he comes from a type of cows whose digestive and assimilative powers are abnormally developed.

A lady friend who has tried it states that horseradish can be ground very nicely in the ordinary meat grinder. The roots are washed and scraped as much as is desirable and then put through the mill, the job being just as well done and attended with many less tears than in the old way.

While social standing and the possession of money may be factors in determining the amount of happiness that a young married couple will have as they go through life, it after all depends more largely upon themselves how much of happiness or misery will be theirs. They can make their life the one or the other largely as they choose.

The fellows who went into the egg deal extensively last summer and fall, buying eggs at a good stiff price, and whose corner this spring was knocked to smash by old Biddy with the fresh product before they had boosted the price to the desired level have learned somewhat of conservatism and are not bidding so fiercely on this year's stock of eggs. The financial flurry, too, may have had some part in preventing the speculators from realizing on their expectations.

Lemons, oranges and grape fruit (when obtained ripe) are not only delicious and greatly relished by the average person, but they are also most wholesome food products, their milk acids being a much needed tonic and cleanser of the system. Thousands of dollars have been spent by California fruit growers this spring in a general advertising of the merits of these fruits along the lines mentioned, and no doubtedly the sales have been greatly increased as a result.

As showing the ruthless and almost complete destruction of the white pine forests of northern Michigan and Wisconsin a Michigan editor recently told a representative of the American Forestry association that he had ridden in a canoe on the Au Sable river right through the heart of what was the white pine region, and not until the end of the second day was an expert on forest trees able to point out at a long distance a single white pine—the first they had encountered during the entire trip.

There seems to be something in the feminine mind that is constitutionally opposed to doing some kinds of work in an easy way. To illustrate, there's many a hardworking mother who still adheres to the laborious old chopping bowl for the preparation of her hash timber and mince meats when a good meat grinder would do it in half the time and with half the effort. There are other good souls who will patiently drudge away on patchwork by hand and view as absolute domestic sacrilege the calling of a sewing machine into service for the doing of the same work.

While the average run of cows may give a maximum yield of milk at seven or eight years of age, there are frequently exceptions. A Jersey cow belonging to the writer that is thirteen years old this spring is giving more milk by a third than in any previous period of lactation. While conditions might be responsible in part, this would hardly seem sufficient to account for all the difference noted. Undoubtedly a large factor is that this spring there was an interval of nine weeks between milking periods, while in previous years there has seldom been more than four or five.

The other day on a drive into the country we noted a hawk, the large sized common kind, with wings outspread and almost motionless and stationary, scanning the meadow beneath him in search of food. While the object of the bird's keen vision was not in sight, he had likely spotted a gopher or mouse and was merely waiting for a good chance to pounce upon it from his position of vantage. Rather than being considered an enemy of the farmer, these hawks, together with many varieties of owls, should be more and more viewed as real friends of the farmer, orchardist and gardener.

It is not surprising that residents of the Mississippi valley states and those on the Atlantic seaboard, mindful of the meteorological tantrums of the weather clerk, which have resulted in the formation of ice half an inch thick nights when apple, peach, cherry and plum blossoms were in full bloom, sort o' longs to hike out to the Pacific coast where a fellow can doff one suit of underclothing at night with a fair degree of assurance that he will not need two or three thicknesses of underflannels the next morning. The variety of weather above referred to is fine, but it is rather hard on a fellow's physical constitution and pretty tough on the fruit and garden truck.

OPPORTUNITIES IN THE EAST.

In a conversation which the writer had recently with a former resident of the state of New York, but who is at present in the employ of the United States government, the latter expressed it as his very decided opinion that with real estate property selling at present prices in the eastern states there was vastly better opportunity there for the home seeker who was willing to take up the fruit and dairy business or farming on a small scale than in any other part of the country. In reply to the question if it were not possible to make good money on the farms referred to he cited the case of the old home farm of thirty-seven acres in New York state, eighteen acres of which were some twenty-five years ago set to orchard. During the past ten years this tract of ground has given a return equal to 10 per cent on a valuation of $1,000 per acre. So much confidence has this gentleman in the possibilities to be found in eastern states that he but a few weeks ago turned down a flattering offer of a professorship in a leading agricultural college of the country to go back home and buy more land adjoining the home farm for the purpose of putting out more apple trees. Of course it goes without saying that many portions of the section of the country referred to are not suited to orchard growing, but there would seem to be opportunity for going into poultry or dairying as a substitute, and, while the returns would hardly be as large as in the case referred to, it is fair to assume that there would be a safe margin of profit.

A PROMISING NEW APPLE.

C. G. Patten of Charles City, Ia., who is today recognized as one of the leading horticulturists of the country and who won the Wilder medal at the Jamestown exposition for displaying the largest number of valuable varieties of apples originated by an exhibitor, has on his grounds a few trees of a new winter variety, the Silas Wilson, an apple of excellent quality, of which he has great hopes as a hardy variety, one that will be hardy in trunk and limb and particularly suited to climatic conditions found in the northern central states. The apple in question is a seedling of the Ben Davis, being produced from apples grown in an orchard in which rows of the Jonathan alternated with the Ben Davis. In appearance the new apple is more like its male than its female parent, is a trifle smaller than the Davis and has a quality which is but slightly inferior to the Jonathan, which is recognized as the standard of excellence among apple growers. Mr. Patten is propagating the Silas Wilson as rapidly as possible and hopes to be able to put the young trees on the market in the not distant future. With a fine quality and the much desired red color, ability to stand the severe winters of the northern states is the only requisite needed to make the new apple a boon to all northern apple growers.

DEEP PLANTING OF CORN.

Where the corn land is loose and mellow and the planter wheels sink to a considerable depth it is a very easy matter to get the seed corn in deeper than is really intended. When the weather is dry and this looseness of soil continues until the seed has germinated and has come out of the ground its being put in deep does not matter much, but if heavy rains come on, the planter tracks fill up and the earth packs down before the corn comes through the ground a pretty serious condition exists and one that is quite likely to materially reduce the stand. Because of the possibility that such conditions may ensue it is well to see to it that the corn is planted so that it will not be more than three inches deep after the field has been given a thorough dragging and the planter tracks have been leveled up.

A REASON FOR FANCY PRICES.

It is well for the eastern fruit grower to keep in mind that, while the Hood river valley apples fetch about twice or three times the price of the best New York fruit, the grower gives the orchard in which these apples are grown a care and attention that is nearly commensurate with the price. His orchard is often less than ten acres and seldom more than twenty, and this tract of land he gives almost continuous cultivation and spraying. At picking time the fruit is all "hand picked" in the exact meaning of the term, and each individual apple is wrapped as carefully as are the lemons and oranges of California. The exercise of every possible precaution, coupled with the marketing of only the most perfect fruit, insures a top notch price which gives a generous reward for the season's work.

HOW FAR APART.

In setting out the trees about the home, where their mission is that of ornament and shade rather than for windbreak purposes, it is a quite natural mistake to put them too near together, as it is difficult to imagine how wide they will spread with the growth of a dozen years. The elms should not be set closer than thirty feet, as is true also of the hard and soft maple, while the ash, box elder, hackberry and similar small and slow growing varieties may be planted at a distance of twenty-five feet from each other. Of course the trees of any of these varieties may be set twice as thick as it is intended they should finally stand, in which case the thinning should be done before the trees have become dwarfed or deformed as a result of growing too close together.

BRIEF MENTION

Short Items of Local Interest Gathered By The Way Side

—Base ball scores at the Electric theatre every night.

—For any thing special in the flower line for decoration consult Eckenroth Bush Arcade.

—George Beezer has received his new Buick machine and has joined the Bellefonte automobile host.

—Remember the old soldiers deserve every consideration from the citizens. See that plenty of flowers are provided for memorial day.

—There is one instance in which advertising does not pay, and that is a boy with a cigarette in his mouth which is an advertisement that he out of the race for success.

—One Thursday afternoon T. Clayton Brown had an attractive sign painted on his store window calling attention to his high grade ice cream cones, the quality of which it has been our pleasure to judge.

—The good pasture afforded by the rapid growth of grass this spring is having a tendency to get the grass fed beef on the market early and in consequence there should be a drop in the exorbitent prices now charged for beef.

—Major General John A. Wiley has announced that the division camp of the National Guard at Gettysburg next July, would be named General Alexander Hays, who served as an officer in the Civil war and met death in the Battle of the Wilderness.

—The game of baseball scheduled for Wednesday afternoon between the Millionaires of Howard and the Academy team was postponed on account of the rain. The game will likely be played a little later as Bellefonte would appreciate a game with one of the C. & C. teams.

—Another swindler is being exposed in the papers. This time he is selling a barbed wire fencing stretcher. He leaves the machine and 40 rods of good fence on trial, requiring the farmer to sign for the return of the stretcher. The farmer signs for $3.00 which turns out to be $300.

—Work has been commenced of the brick stack at the Pennsylvania Match Factory and it will be ninety feet high, about fifteen feet higher than the one erected by the Bellefonte Lumber company. The new concrete boiler room at the planing mill is about completed.

—State Game Commissioner Kalbfus issued a statement on Thursday in which he gave warning that the law prohibiting the use of automatic guns by huntsmen would be enforced to the limit. The commissioner says that the law has been violated and that it will be thoroughly tested.

—The Houtzdale Citizen states that C. C. Shoff, near Annville, has an apple tree which is quite a curiosity from the fact that it bears two crops of apples in one season. About the time the first crop begins to ripen and fall the tree sends out another series of blossoms which finally develop into fair sized fruit by the time frost comes.

EDWARD LIVINGSTON HOY.

Prominent Young Business Man Died at the Bush House on Sunday.

In the death of Edward L. Hoy we are called upon to chronicle one of the saddest that has occurred in Bellefonte for some time. The deceased, who was yet a young man and enjoying the very best of health, was daily pursuing his duties as superintendent of the Bellefonte Lumber company, when about five days ago he was taken ill and confined to his bed at the Bush House. Medical aid was called and his illness was diagnosed as pneumonia. His condition gradually grew worse and worse and on Saturday it seemed apparent that death was imminent. The patient rallied somewhat under the treatment of the physicians but the danger point had not been passed and on Sunday morning at 8 40 o'clock he was taken away. Tuesday body laid in state at the Presbyterian church from 1 30 until 2 30 o'clock. Public funeral services were conducted at the same place at 3 00 o'clock by Rev. J. Allison Platts, assisted by Dr. William Laurie. The ceremonies was in accordance with the Masonic rites and interment was made in the Union cemetery.

The pall bearers were Edmund Blanchard, John Blanchard, Thomas Beaver, Dr. M. J. Lock, Dr. George Green, Fred Blanchard, H. E. Fenlon, John Shugert, and H. C. Quigley.

The floral tributes from friends of the deceased and the several orders of which he was a member were of very beautiful flowers and artistically designed. The Bellefonte Lodge of Masons attended in a body and had charge of the services at the Union cemetery where interment was made.

Edward Livingston Hoy was born in Bellefonte Sept. 14th, 1876. He was the fourth son of the late Judge Adam Hoy and Louisa Harris Hoy. His early life was spent in acquiring an education and from Miss Petriken's private school and the Bellefonte Academy he was prepared for college. He later entered the University of Pennsylvania, but was unable to complete his course owing to the need of his presence at home. His first business engagement was in the office of E. K. Rhoades, coal dealer. Later he entered the hardware store of James Harris & Co. and speedily developed talents for the business that carried him well to the front of the young business men of the town. Together with James Harris and Jas. H. Potter he formed the co-partnership of Harris, Potter & Hoy for the handling of the output of the Bellefonte glass works. This business ran until the works went on a co-operative basis and the most of its care devolved on the junior member of the firm who was thus fitting himself, unconsciously, for the remarkable position he held in this community for one so young. When James Harris decided to retire from active business, Mr. Hoy bought his interest in the firm which then became the Potter—Hoy Hardware Co. That was on Jan 1st 1900. The new firm organized a wholesale department and grew until it became one of the largest mercantile establishments in Central Pennsylvania. Any work he had to do was a pleasure for him, but the desire for out-of-door life and something less confining than his duties as secretary and treasurer of the hardware firm turned his attention to the Ardell Lumber Co. a plant that had been left without a head through the deaths of the lamented John Ardell and Neelin Irwin. In it Mr. Hoy saw a great field and set about to reorganize and capitalize the business. The greatest compliment that could have been paid his integrity and business acumen we find in the ease with which he re-organized a property that had been on the verge of bankruptcy for years and interested capitol to the extent of $25,000 in what surface indications appeared to be nothing more than his personal ability to do things.

Accordingly in July 1907, when he was scarcely more than thirty years of age he withdrew from the Hardware business and became the secretary, treasurer and general manager of the Bellefonte Lumber Co. What he did there is known best to the veteran lumbermen and business men who cast their lot with him, not one of whom will say that he was not more than fulfilling every hope they had built up. Thus it was in the very prime of what promised a most useful and successful manhood, enjoying the confidence and esteem of all who had had intercourse with him and with a soul full of kindness and hope he was struggling on to the goal of his dearest ambitions, the place where he could be more helpful to his family, his friends and his loved home town.

He was a member of the Presbyterian church, a Knight Templar and a Mason, a Maccabee, and a member of the Bellefonte and the Nittany Country clubs.

Surviving are his sisters Nan, Mary and Mrs. W. Fred Reynolds, all of Bellefonte and his brothers Albert C., of Providence R. I., J. Harris Hoy of Bellefonte, and Randolph H., of Pittsburgh.
